D. REPORT OF THE STATUTORY DIRECTOR ON BUSINESS ACTIVITIES AND ASSETS OF THE SUB-FUND

in the reporting period

a) Sub-fund profile

The Sub-fund's purpose is to increase the value of the owners' investment shares in a long-term by investing in companies with a growth profile particularly focusing on internet business in the area of (i) fintech, (ii) e-commerce, primarily in food, (iii) healthcare, and (iv) other fragmented retail service markets ("marketplaces for local services"). Such investments may be made in the form of ownership interests in companies and/or by the provision of convertible loans and borrowings to companies under the terms of the Statute.

For the short-term and long-term appreciation of the Sub-fund's assets, while maintaining a reasonable level of risk, the ET III Sub-fund may invest disposable cash even in financial assets. For example, the Sub-fund uses for such investments money market instruments, bonds traded on regulated OECD markets and similarly oriented investment funds.

The Fund intends to acquire for the Sub-fund a total capital commitment of up to EUR 60 million. As at 31 December 2018, the investors committed to the Sub-fund total capital commitments of EUR 50.625 million, an increase of EUR 31.5 million year-on-year. The increase resulted from the closing of the second investment round, in which three institutional investors became shareholders of the ET III Sub-fund.

The Sub-fund is intended for qualified investors pursuant to Section 95 and Section 272(1) of the Act on Investment Companies and Investment Funds.

The Sub-fund was established for a seven-year period with the option of extending this period by three years under the terms of the Fund's Statute.

In Q1 2019, several Class I1 and I2 investment share issues were launched totaling EUR 5,108 thousand. C. INFORMATION ON RISKS ARISING FROM INVESTMENT IN THE SUB-FUND

Investments in the Fund or the Sub-fund entail significant risks, specifically:

- a. The risk of a volatile current value of securities issued by the Sub-fund as a result of the composition of the assets or the method of managing the Sub-fund's assets. Shareholders need to be aware that, despite the maximum effort for safe management, the value of the Sub-fund's investment stock may fluctuate depending on the developments in the financial markets.
- b. Market risk arising from the effects of changes in the overall market developments on the prices and values of the Sub-fund's specific types of assets of. The most significant market risks are foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk, equity risk, commodity risk and the risk of specific investment projects. The level of market risk depends on the specific structure of the Sub-fund's assets.
- c. Credit risk arising from a situation where the issuer or counterparty fails to honor their obligations. The manager minimizes the credit risk in particular by selecting counterparties and issuers with regard to their creditworthiness, by setting limits to exposure of individual counterparties and issuers and by non-onerous contractual arrangements.

- d. The risk of insufficient liquidity where an asset of the Sub-fund is not monetized within the set timeframe and at a reasonable price. Due to the nature of the market for specific types of target assets that may account for an essential portion of the Sub-fund's assets, it is important to note that the monetization of such an asset with the aim to achieve the best price is time consuming. In the extreme case, the liquidity risk may result in a liquidity crisis. The risk is mitigated by allowing for a sufficient period of 2-5 years after the end of the investment period intended for growth and successful sale of the Sub-fund's assets.
- e. The risk related to the Sub-fund's investment focus on certain industries, countries or regions, other market segments, or certain types of assets.
- f. Operational risk, consisting in a loss due to deficiencies or failure of internal processes or the human factor or external events. This risk is mitigated by maintaining an adequate management and control mechanism of the manager.
- g. The risk that the Fund or the Sub-fund may be canceled for reasons governed by applicable legislation.
- h. The risk that the Fund or the Sub-fund may be canceled for other than legislative reasons, such as economic or restructuring reasons.
- i. Risks associated with the acquisition of foreign assets. This risk may give rise to unfavorable conditions for the disposal (sale) of the assets.
- j. Risks arising from potential failure of legal entities in which the Sub-fund holds ownership interests or from which the Fund records receivables.
- k. Risks related to the debtor's receivables or creditworthiness and the quality of securing the receivables.
- l. Risks arising from an erroneous valuation of assets by an expert in cases where assets are valued by an expert. This risk is reduced by a strict selection of experts who monitor the condition and use of the assets and other factors that may affect the value of assets, and who also assess the valuation.
- m. Risks associated with the possibility of suspending the issue and redemption of investment shares for up to two years.

Further information on the risks arising from investments in the Fund or the Sub-fund is provided in the Notes to the financial statements.

4 Accounting Methods and General Accounting Policies

The financial statements comprising the balance sheet, income statement, statement of changes in equity and the accompanying notes have been prepared in accordance with the Czech Act on Accounting, the Czech Ministry of Finance decrees and the Czech accounting standards for financial institutions.

These financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and on the accruals basis of accounting, the only exception being the Sub-fund's assets and liabilities which are revalued at fair value pursuant to Section 196 of the Act on Investment Companies and Investment Funds.

These financial statements have been prepared on the going concern basis.

All figures are in CZK thousands unless stated otherwise. Amounts in brackets represent negative amounts.

These financial statements are standalone statements.

The significant accounting policies and methods applied in preparing these financial statements were as follows:

4.1 Foreign Currency Translation

Foreign currencies are translated to Czech crowns at the daily exchange rate published by the Czech National Bank (ČNB) as at the transaction date or the transaction recognition date. During the year, only realized foreign exchange gains and losses are accounted for.

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated to Czech currency using the foreign exchange rate announced by the Czech National Bank as at the balance sheet date. The resulting exchange rate gains or losses from the translation of foreign denominated assets or liabilities are charged or credited, as appropriate, to income for the year as 'Gains or losses from financial operations'.

4.2 Transaction Recognition Date

Depending on the type of transaction, the recognition dates are as follows:

- the date on which money in circulation is paid or received,
- the date on which foreign currency or securities are purchased or sold,
- the date on which a payment is made,
- the date on which (foreign) currency is credited based on a report received from the Fund's correspondent (the report shall mean a SWIFT report, the Bank's notification, a received medium, an account statement or other documents),
- financial assets and liabilities are recognized when the Sub-fund becomes a party to the transaction.

The following rules apply to derecognition of financial assets and liabilities:

- The Sub-fund derecognizes a financial asset or a part thereof from its balance sheet when it loses control over the contractual rights to the asset or its part.
- A financial liability or a part thereof is extinguished if the obligation specified in the contract is discharged or cancelled or expires and the entity removes the given liability or part thereof from its balance sheet. The difference between the carrying amount of a liability (or a portion thereof) extinguished or transferred to another entity and the amount paid for the liability is recognized in profit or loss for the period.

The purchase and sale of financial assets is recognized when the spot transaction is settled.

4.3 Receivables from Non-banking Entities

Receivables from non-banking entities are recognized at their nominal value including the accrued accessories, net of allowances. Uncollectible receivables are written off upon the completion of bankruptcy proceedings against the debtor.

4.4 Allowances

The Sub-fund must first decide whether a reason exists to reduce the book value of receivables.

Receivables are monitored if they are overdue for more than 90 days or if they involve another default or if the debtor's financial position has deteriorated.

Allowances against receivables and other risk-bearing assets are based on the valuation of the collectible amount of such assets as at the balance sheet date after taking into account the current value of security upon forced sale.

Additions to allowances are recognized in the income statement item, the use of allowances is recognized together with costs or losses relating to the disposal of assets in the income statement.

Allowances that are no longer needed are released to income.

Allowances against assets denominated in foreign currencies are recognized in such foreign currencies. Exchange rate differences are recoded similarly to exchange rate differences arising from the valuation of the underlying assets.

4.5 Securities

4.5.1 Initial Measurement

Upon initial recognition, securities are measured at cost that includes direct transaction costs.

4.5.2 Subsequent Measurement

For the purposes of subsequent measurement, securities previously recognized as financial assets that are not considered ownership interests constituting a controlling or significant influence are classified as follows:

- Financial assets measured at fair value against income or expense accounts,
- Financial assets available-for-sale,
- Financial assets held to maturity.

Securities previously recognized as financial liabilities are classified as follows:

- liabilities from securities measured at fair value against income or expense accounts (hereinafter “payables from short-term sale”),
- issued securities.

4.5.3 Available-for-sale securities

Available-for-sale securities are securities that are designated as available for sale by the Sub-fund or securities that do not meet the definition of another category. They include in particular shares of companies in which the Sub-fund does not hold an ownership interest constituting a controlling or significant influence and debt securities held for liquidity management purposes. Upon initial recognition, available-for-sale securities are measured at cost that includes direct transaction costs and, upon subsequent measurement, they are valued at fair value.

Gains or losses arising from changes in fair value of available-for-sale securities are recognized (after reflecting tax effects) directly in equity until their sale or a decline in their value. In such case, the accumulated gains or losses initially recognized in equity are accounted for through profit or loss. Interest calculated using the effective interest rate, dividends and exchange rate differences arising from debt securities are recognized in profit or loss. Foreign exchange differences arising from equity securities are recognized in gains or losses from the revaluation of assets and liabilities reflected in equity.

If the loss arising from changes in the fair value of available-for-sale securities is recognized in equity and there is objective evidence that the asset is impaired, the loss is reclassified from equity to expenses. Impairment shall mean a decline in value of more than 30% compared to the cost exceeding one year.

4.6 Ownership Interests Constituting a Significant or Controlling Influence

As at the date of acquisition, ownership interests constituting a significant or controlling influence are recognized at cost which includes expenses incurred in connection with their acquisition. Ownership interests constituting a significant or controlling influence are revalued to fair value as at the valuation date. The revaluation amounts are recorded in equity through the ‘Gain or loss on revaluation of assets and liabilities’ caption.

If the loss arising from changes in the fair value of an ownership interest constituting a significant or controlling influence is recognized in equity and there is objective evidence that the asset is impaired, the loss is reclassified from equity to expenses. Impairment shall mean a decline in value of more than 30% compared to the cost exceeding one year.

4.7 Fair Value of Securities and Ownership Interests Constituting a Significant or Controlling Influence

The fair value of securities and ownership interests constituting a significant or controlling influence is determined as (i) its market value or the market value derived from the market values of components of the asset or liability, (ii) the value arising from generally accepted valuation models, methods and recommendations (such as the valuation policies published from time to time by Invest Europe as part of the 'Valuation Guidelines'), as long as these yield an adequate estimate of the market value, (iii) the value determined by a qualified expert or an expert's opinion, if the market value is not available.

4.8 Capital Funds

Capital funds are funds created from sources other than the accounting profit. The Sub-fund uses capital funds to record issued investment shares against contributions from investors. Investment shares issued in the first subscription period are issued for their nominal value. In further periods, the Sub-fund shall issue investment shares of the relevant class for an amount equal to the current value of an investment share of the relevant class announced as at the valuation date. Furthermore, the Sub-fund shall issue investment shares against funds received from investors, on the basis of a call for subscription, for which no investment shares have yet been issued. The administrative period for the investment shares issue is up to 6 months from the receipt of the payment from investors. Capital funds further include the current value of repurchased investment shares.

4.9 Taxes

Current tax expense

The income tax base is calculated using profit for the year before tax adjusted by adding non-deductible expenses and deducting non-taxable income and any tax relief or off-sets.

Value added tax

The Sub-fund is not registered for value added tax (VAT).

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on all temporary differences between the carrying amount of an asset or liability in the balance sheet and its tax base using the full liability method. A deferred tax asset is recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which this asset can be utilized.

The tax rate applicable for the period in which the deferred tax is expected to be realized is used for the deferred taxation calculation.

Deferred tax arising from the revaluation of hedging instruments, securities available-for-sale and ownership interests constituting a significant or controlling influence at fair value recognized directly in equity is also recorded in equity.

4.10 Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the balance sheet date and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Sub-fund's management prepared these estimates and predictions based on all relevant information available. Nevertheless, these estimates and assumptions may differ from actual future results.

4.11 Subsequent Events

The effect of events that occurred between the balance sheet date and the financial statements date is reflected in the financial statements if these events provide additional evidence of conditions that existed at the balance sheet date.

If, between the balance sheet date and the financial statements date, significant events occurred that are indicative of conditions that arose after the balance sheet date, the effect of these events is not recognized in the financial statements but disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

4.12 Related Parties

The Sub-fund has defined its related parties as follows:

The Fund's key managing persons and their family members, entities controlled or jointly controlled by or under significant influence of these persons or entities or their parent companies in which these persons are members of key management. The statutory director and the Fund's managing persons are considered key managing persons of the Fund.

5.16.1 Market risk

The market risk results from the fluctuation of market prices and their impact on the Sub-fund's profit (equity). The market risk exposure depends on the structure of the balance sheet (the income statement) and the volatility of asset and liability (income and expense) items to changes in market prices. The Sub-fund's major market risks include currency and interest rate risks.

a) Currency risk

The Sub-fund takes on exposure resulting from fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates on its financial position and cash flows.

The chart below contains an overview of currency risk exposure. The chart contains assets and liabilities at their book value broken down by currencies and only show selected positions from the balance sheet exposed to currency risk.

The Fund's internal policy stipulates the minimum amount of liquid assets necessary to cover satisfaction of liabilities falling due and settlement and contains a liquidity crisis management plan.

The following chart contains a breakdown of assets and liabilities according to maturity bands based on remaining maturity as at the FS date. The chart only contains selected assets and liabilities carried at book values broken down according to the earliest of the settlement, valuation or maturity date.
